

HUGE SPENDING DURING STELLE REGIME IS HIT

Gov. Green Charges Pay- roll Padding and Ex- cessive Expenses

BULLETIN
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Governor Dwight H. Green ordered cancelled today a sales tax rules revision which, since November 1, had exempted building supply dealers and contractors from payment of the Illinois three per cent sales tax.

The tax exemption, granted by former Governor John Stelle, was being revoked until such time as legal questions involved are decided by the courts, Governor Green announced.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Charging former Governor John Stelle's 99-day administration with padding payrolls and "loading up" on insurance and office supplies, Governor Dwight H. Green proceeded today with an investigation of recent state spending.

The newly-installed governor in a statement last night attributed the depleted state treasury balance to "the unusual rate at which recent expenditures have been made" and warned that questionable contracts would be cancelled.

A temporary ban on all new purchases of state supplies has been invoked to "take time to check up on expenditures" but essential funds such as relief and old age assistance will be released promptly, the statement said.

Green did not mention the name of former Governor Stelle—who left office Jan. 13 after serving as chief executive since Oct. 6—but rapid expenditures during Stelle's short but eventful administration. The statement said in part:

"The concentration of expenditures in the last few months has included contracts let in excess of necessity, padded payrolls, particularly in November and December, and the loading up on various forms of supplies. Preliminary investigation has revealed supplies sufficient for months to come are already in the warehouse.

"Some forms of insurance in some of the departments have been bought and paid for even beyond the approaching biennium. "A careful checkup of contracts, particularly cost-plus contracts, is being made. Any that do not meet the fullest measure of the law will be cancelled".

Follows Conference
Green's charges of padded payrolls and excessive spending were made after two conferences yesterday with Finance Director George B. McKibbin and State Treasurer Warren Wright, who had collaborated earlier in temporary halting all purchases of supplies.

Treasurer Wright said that the state treasury's general fund had dropped to the unusual low of $1,118,412 and predicted that the fund would be exhausted by May 1.

In his statement, however, Green minimized the danger of a treasury deficit and stated that "by economy and careful management a serious shortage in general revenue funds could be averted".

The sudden drop in the general fund from $6,886,007 to $1,118,412 in Green's first seven days in office also was attributed to a bookkeeping tangle caused by the change from Democratic to Republican administrations when some $5,000,000 in December sales tax payments were not deposited on time in the treasury.

Green said that in the future the general fund would not drop below $3,000,000 at the beginning of any month.

The temporary ban on purchases of "ordinary supplies" was ordered to permit an inventory of existing stocks, he said. The statement added:

"This form of expenditure (for state supplies) was also conducted

Data on "Columnists"
CCC Camp to Be Sought

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Representative Engel (R-Mich.) said today he would demand from Secretary Wickard full particulars of an experimental Civilian Conservation Corps camp at Sharon, Vt., which Engel described as a camp for the "over privileged".

Declaring he had been informed that 15 Harvard and Dartmouth university students were attending the camp, Engel also called it the "columnists' camp", explaining that he understood Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President, Dorothy Thompson and Dorothy Canfield Fisher sponsored it.

Faces Delilah

Oklahoma City, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Ivan Barzella Heiderich, who, like Samson of old, takes pride in his untrimmed locks, faced an induction board today with the fear that the army would be his Delilah.

The 33-year-old Marietta, Okla. farmer whose shoulder-long golden curls never have known a barber's shears, blew into town with a group of draftees, considerably irked because he army was about to get in his hair.

What's worrying Ivan is that if he is passed by the examining board, he will face an army processing in which the growth of a lifetime is doomed to be clipped to the regulation two-inch crop.

"I'm going to protest," Ivan proclaimed. "I didn't want to go in the first place. I don't want my hair cut".

ALLEGED DRAFT EVADER RESISTS ARREST; IS DEAD

Fatally Wounded After He and Father Attack Officers Wednesday

Pontiac, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Ernest R. Eisele, 22-year-old farm youth, died today from wounds suffered while resisting arrest on a charge of evading the draft.

His father, Martin Eisele, who was shot three times in a gun and knife fight with two law officers, remained in a critical condition.

All four participants in yesterday's affray at the Eisele farm home at nearby Rook's Creek village were taken to the same hospital here.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Eugene Ahrends, 45, of Peoria, was stabbed in the neck and forehead. Chief Deputy Sheriff Robert Jones of Livingston county, suffered stab wounds in the neck, face and side.

Attendants at St. James hospital reported their wounds as severe but not critical.

The deputy marshal appeared at the farm home with a federal warrant for the arrest of young Eisele on a charge of failure to register for selective service.

Drew Knives Suddenly
The officers said that they believed they had induced young Eisele to accompany them when suddenly both he and his father drew pocket knives and set upon them. The officers said they drew their guns and began firing. The son was wounded in the stomach and hip.

Young Eisele was taken to a car by the officers. Before they could drive away, the elder Eisele fired a shotgun at them and Jones returned the fire. The farmer suffered three wounds in the stomach.

Residents of the small community said the elder Eisele had protested a draft board order for his son's registration because he could not spare him from farm chores in the event he were drafted.

Not Conscientious Objector
Assistant U. S. Attorney G. R. Kennedy of Peoria said that a federal investigator had been told by the farm youth: "When war breaks out I'll enlist, but until that time what I do is my own business and they can't make me register".

The attorney asserted that the young man was not a conscientious objector.

Paul G. Armstrong, state director of selective service, expressed regret at Springfield over the tragedy and asserted that every effort was being made to administer the law fairly and justly.

"We hope that never again will an incident of this kind occur in Illinois or any other part of the country", he said.

TO PROSECUTE FATHER
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Federal authorities took steps today to prosecute Martin Eisele, farmer of near Pontiac, as a result of the fatal gun and knife duel yesterday with officers who sought to arrest his son for draft evasion. The son, Ernest, 22, was fatally shot, and the elder Eisele and two officers wounded.

U. S. Marshal Paul Ruppel said he would go to Pontiac this afternoon to serve a warrant, issued today, charging Martin Eisele with resisting and assaulting Deputy Marshal Eugene Ahrends of Peoria. Service would be made, Ruppel said, in St. James hospital where the injured farmer was reported in a critical condition

Habits Unchanged
Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Americans in army camps drink more coffee than they used to at home, and in the navy they consume more ketchup.

Otherwise, reported William S. Knudsen, defense production director, their eating habits are little changed. He said the country would have no trouble feeding the expanding army and navy.

Have You Yours?

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Ready cash in American purses or bank accounts today reached the record-breaking figure of $69,500,000,000—an average of about $527 for every man, woman and child.

Federal Reserve Board experts who worked out this estimate said it was at least $13,000,000,000 larger than in the best days of 1928-29. It meant a gain of more than $5,000,000,000 in the last year.

AID TO BRITAIN 'MISTAKE', SAYS COL. LINDBERGH

Famous Flier Declares Combination of U. S. and Britain Can't Win

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh flatly asserted today that even a combination of the United States and Great Britain could not win the European war "on the present basis" and he urged a "negotiated peace".

The famous flier told the house foreign affairs committee that he did not believe that "anything short of war or beyond war" would win the struggle unless there was a collapse behind the lines of one side or the other.

He said he believed the stand of "the American people" in favor of aiding the British "was a mistake". And he declared he was opposed to the lease-lend bill for British aid because it was "a step away from democracy" and "one more step closer to war".

Should Avoid War
Entrance into any foreign war.

New Swapping Idea
Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) proposed today, as a substitute for the administration's lend-lease legislation, that congress authorize President Roosevelt to turn over $2,000,000,000 in war equipment to Great Britain to be "tested" and paid for with information on how it worked.

"In short," Johnson told reporters in summarizing a resolution he said he would introduce today, "Great Britain would receive the war machines and munitions that she needs and we would receive vital and valuable information on their performance under fire in actual combat, to guide us in future production".

Lindbergh said, should be avoided, for regardless of what happened abroad this country and this hemisphere are "strong enough" to protect themselves. He advocated establishment of a string of air bases by this country and the creation of an air force of about 10,000 first line planes and an equal number of reserves, exclusive of trainers. Such a force, he said, would "insure American security".

While the hearing went forward, Senator Taft (R-Ohio), at the other side of the Capitol, proposed substitute legislation for the aid-to-Britain bill under which this country would lend Britain $1,000,000,000, Canada $500,000,000 and Greece $50,000,000.

Taft's bill would eliminate all extraordinary powers which would be granted the president under the lease-lend measure and would give the Reconstruction Finance Corporation authority, on request of the president and the Federal Loan Administration, to make the designated loans to Britain, Canada and Greece.

The bill would authorize repayments in ships or other property instead of dollars.

Lindbergh Careful
The tall, blond Lindbergh was settled comfortably in the house committee's witness chair as he responded to most of the questions.

Occasionally he would consider a reply extremely carefully, squinting a bit in his chair.

When he again asserted that the United States and England together could not successfully invade the continent unless a "collapse" preceded it, Rep. Pfeiffer (D-NY) asked:

"Then German is sure to win?" "She already controls the continent," Lindbergh replied.

After characterizing American aid to Britain as "a mistake", Lindbergh continued: "I think it is vital for us to bring about an end to the war as soon as possible. I don't think it would be possible for England to invade the continent and win the war, x x x

"I think it would be impossible that England and the United States could invade the continent together unless an (internal) collapse came".

"Our aid is not going to be sufficient", he said at another point.

After 1,000 Years

Farmington, N. M., Jan. 23 (AP)—Threatening rock finally has fallen—1,000 years or more after it first frightened people of prehistoric Pueblo Bonito, and possibly scared them away from their "town beautiful".

The rock's teetering 30,000 tons crashed from a north-western New Mexico cliff yesterday onto the north wall of the Pueblo ruins and smashed a section of four story terraces houses.

Ranger L. T. McKinney noticed a heavy tremor about noon. The crash came soon after with a tremendous roar.

Debris and pieces of the sandstone slab, 100 feet on a side and 30 feet thick, were showered over a section of the ruins, but with little damage.

McKinney reported that heavy rains and snows of the last six weeks probably had loosened the underpinnings.

British Claim Capture of 24,000 Italians in Capitulation of Tobruk

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
The lifting of our "moral embargo" against Russia, with the idea of improving relations between Washington and Moscow, has set tongues wagging as to whether it also is calculated to erect a barrier between the soviet and the triple alliance—Germany, Italy and Japan.

This speculation is natural for two reasons. One is that there are few ways in which the United States could render Britain greater aid in the war against the three musketeers than to swing the soviet into the Anglo-allied camp. The other is the rift within the Japanese-American lute, and the efforts of Tokyo to bolster its position by making friends with Russia.

It is an interesting circumstance that the day before Washington made its friendly gesture toward Moscow, the British government informed parliament that efforts to improve relations with the soviet had been at a standstill since October 22.

One reason for the hitch, in my view, is that there is a very considerable hostility to Russia among conservative Britons because of fear of Communism. They refuse to accept the soviet claim that Communism is the highest form of democracy.

Just to round out the picture, the soviet yesterday reaffirmed its policy of neutrality. This is to be insured "by indefatigable strengthening of the economic and defense capacity of the country".

Russia may be said to hold the balance of power in the European dispute. That's why both sides are trying to gain her support.

We don't know the extent of present day Russia's strength. Indeed, it's a safe bet that Stalin himself doesn't know it, because it never has been put to a real test. However, its potential resources are vast. It is stronger industrially and probably militarily than was czarist Russia in the last war. What morale the people would show in another conflict is an unknown quantity.

Apart from their political differences, Russia and Britain are natural allies. Both have vast interests in Europe and Asia. Their strategic posts of empire run side by side from Europe right through to the Far East.

As allies they would be a powerful combination. As enemies they would find more hostile points of contact than two quarrelsome porcupines.

From London's viewpoint Russia could threaten Britain's domination of the eastern Mediterranean through virtual control of the Dardanelles.

But, Russia as an ally would tend to remove the Japanese pressure and menace in the Far East.

Army Makes Plans for More Commissions Soon

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Army plans for training several thousand draftees and other enlisted men as commissioned officers for the expanding land forces were announced today by Secretary Simson.

The first of four successive courses of three months each will open about July 1. Candidates will be accepted up to 36 years of age.

"This gives every draftee a chance to become a commissioned officer regardless of age," the war secretary told a press conference. "Heretofore the maximum age for commissioning new combat officers was 30."

The army already has 47,200 officers in active service, including regulars, National Guardsmen and reservists, Stimson said, and by next June expects to have more than 97,000 when the land forces have been expanded to 1,400,000.

Ferrying bombers is getting dull", Berry, who fought with Canada in the World war and wore again a Canadian uniform, told Willkie. "I am joining a fighting unit soon".

Bloody Civil War in Rumania Reported: Other War News

(By The Associated Press)
Bloody civil war with hundreds slain was reported in Rumania today, amid conflicting accounts of its progress; while in North Africa the British announced the capture of two Italian divisions (about 24,000 men) at the fallen stronghold of Tobruk.

The desert bastion, 80 miles inside Libya, was completely taken over by the British last night, it was officially stated, with 14,000 Italians so far counted as prisoners, including four more fascist generals and an admiral.

British military quarters said Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell's Army of the Nile had now "captured, destroyed or disintegrated" 111 Italian divisions in the Egyptian and Libyan desert campaigns—a grand total of about 132,000 men since Dec. 9.

Reports on the widespread disorders in Rumania varied. Rumania's legation at Budapest, capital of Hungary, acknowledged many deaths, but asserted that Dictator Premier Ion Antonescu was "complete master" of the situation.

Dispatches received in Sofia and Belgrade, however, depicted the pro-Nazi iron guard revolutionists—as they were identified by the Rumanian government—having seized the Bucharest postoffice, radio station and military airport.

Hold 80 Miles of Coast
Capture of the Italian stronghold of Tobruk left Britain's African armies in control of 80 miles of the Libyan seacoast today and in position for a possible drive against the fascist bases of Derna and Bengasi.

Thousands of Italian troops were reported by Australian forces which swarmed into Tobruk at noon yesterday after a 36-hour frontal assault culminating a 16-day siege.

British circles in Cairo, jubilant over the victory, expressed belief nothing short of German intervention on a major scale could save the rest of Cirenicaia (eastern Libya) from capture by spring.

RAF Carries Fight
The Royal Air Force, meanwhile, carried the fight to Germany with overnight attacks during which the British said, steel, oil and munitions works at Dueseldorf in the heart of the industrial Ruhr were pounded for the 21st time and also with attacks on nazi airdromes in German-occupied France yesterday.

The Germans, who engaged in only limited aerial activity over Britain last night, acknowledged some bombs had been dropped in western Germany, but said damage was limited to private property.

British destroyer losses were swelled to 37 by the Admiralty's announcement that the 1,340 ton Hyperion had been sunk by other British warships after being left helpless by a mine or torpedo. The date and place were not disclosed.

The Greek high command reported new successes on the central Albanian battlefield.

Demo Leaders Carry Home Urgent Messages

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—State Democratic leaders from every section carried home instructions today from post-inaugural political conferences to "stay on your toes" to keep party machinery intact for future campaigns and to terminate intro-party feuds.

They also had orders to "pep things up" for state wide campaigns for party contributions in connection with Jackson Day banquets to be held here and in the 48 states on March 29th to raise $750,000.

This goal was decided upon in an effort to liquidate the deficit of more than $100,000 remaining from the last national campaign and to create a surplus large enough to run the party organizations for another year or more.

Postmaster General is Renominated by Chief

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today nominated Frank C. Walker to serve four more years as postmaster general.

He also sent to the Senate the nomination of Dean G. Acheson to be an assistant secretary of state in place of Henry Grady, resigned.

Walker was named postmaster general last fall to succeed James A. Farley, who resigned to enter private business. The postmaster generalship is the only cabinet office for which a new appointment has to be made at the beginning of a new presidential term.

Green Establishes Record in Contact With News Scribes

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—He has been the state's chief executive only ten days, but Gov. Dwight H. Green already has established an unusual record in his contacts with newspapermen assigned to the statehouse.

In three regular press conferences, he has answered dozens of questions dealing with appointments and policies of his administration without requesting that any of his responses be treated as confidential or "off the record".

At the outset, the governor let it be known he preferred to put his meetings with reporters on a definite schedule, but he left the detailed arrangements to the newsmen themselves. Indications are he will hold two or three regular press interviews weekly.

Green, himself a reporter of campus news for a Chicago newspaper when he attended the University of Chicago, has done nothing to discourage an atmosphere of informality that has characterized his first interviews since he took office.

The dapper, 44-year-old executive calls most of the reporters by their first names. His replies to their questions usually are terse and delivered in quiet tones. Occasionally he smokes a cigarette, tilts back in his chair, and swaps quips with his interviewers. His practice of answering only the queries put to him has led to occasions in which reporters have found themselves doing most of the talking.

Usually a dozen to 20 of them attend the press conferences,

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Five-Point Buck Captured Alive by Morrison Hunters

Chauncey Poffenberger of Polo, investigator for the state department of conservation, was expected to go to Morrison today to investigate a report that a five-point buck deer was being held in confinement on the Morrison sewage disposal plant grounds. He said that it is against the state laws to keep any wild animal captured in Illinois in captivity, and added that there is no open season for deer in the state.

The deer is reported to have been captured Saturday by three hunters—Harold Piper of Cottonwood and John Gerdes and Charles Mush of Morrison—who were looking for a fox among the "bluffs" west of Morrison and who reported seeing the animal at a distance and later finding its tracks in the snow.

Claiming that he was going to "charm" the deer, Piper started following the tracks just to see where the deer had gone, while his companions went back to their fox trail.

The latter two hunted for some time but when their partner failed to appear they started in the direction that he had taken. Hearing a noise they ran through some brush and to their amazement saw Piper struggling with the deer. They ran to his assistance and it was all the three could do to hold the deer quiet.

Soon Calms Down
Soon the deer became calmer and they were able to take him to the Piper farm nearby, where he soon was nibbling at hay and corn fodder. Monday night he was taken to the sewage disposal plant by John Diehl and Howard Hartman and Tuesday he was following Harry Traum, Jr., about the grounds. A shelter was built at one end of the grounds which are enclosed by a ten foot woven wire fence and the buck immediately walked into it as though it had been home for years. A request will be made to the state conservation department for a doe to put into the enclosure with him.

Piper told his companions that he had gone but a short distance after they had left when he saw the buck with its horns caught in a woven wire fence. He said that without thinking of the possible strength of the deer, he took it by the horns and loosened it and then he couldn't let go. The deer repeatedly rammed him against the fence and kept striking at him with its sharp front feet. Piper sprained both wrists and Sunday his back was so sore that he couldn't straighten up. Gerdes and Mush also felt the power of the buck's feet while they were handling him and Monday night and Tuesday he demonstrated several times that he did have a way of objecting when things didn't go to suit him.

Does Not Like Dog
Tuesday, Harry Traum, Jr., superintendent of the sewage disposal plant, introduced his little spaniel to the deer and then for the next 15 minutes the dog was very busy trying to find a place safe from the deer's hoofs. He finally took refuge on a narrow concrete walk over several large tanks of water and barked bravely when he saw the deer was afraid to follow him.

The buck, which has been named Dick, is very tame and if one stands still will walk up and smell of his clothes. He will eat apples and carrots from an outstretched hand. Many persons

Carnegie Awards for Heroism Are Given Publicity

Pittsburgh, Jan. 23.—(AP)—For his heroic action in attempting to rescue a man from a gas filled sewer manhole, Charles Endres, 64-year-old Taylorville, Ill. street commissioner, was awarded a bronze medal by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

Another bronze medal recipient was John H. St. Germaine, 18, a Lac du Flambeau, Wis. guide who saved three prominent Illinoisans from drowning last summer.

The commission announced the awards yesterday.

It was last May 9 that Joseph E. Johnson, a laborer, was overcome by carbon monoxide gas while working in the 14-foot manhole at Taylorville.

Endres descended on a ladder but was overcome himself while placing a rope about Johnson. Both men were pulled to the surface as firemen went to the rescue. Johnson, however, could not be revived. Endres was disabled for three days.

Rescued by St. Germaine were Arthur P. O'Brien, 54, then secretary to the late Governor Horner; John J. Hallahan, 53, then director of the Illinois Department of Registration and Education; and Martin J. O'Brien, 67, Cook county Public Administrator.

Shortly after he was pulled have expressed the thought that he is too tame to have been at liberty all of his life.

There have been numerous reports during the past several months of persons seeing deer in the Cottonwood vicinity and some report seeing a doe there as well as a buck.

from the water. Martin J. O'Brien died.

The motor boat which the four were using on Big Crawling Stone lake, Wis., July 6, 1940, sank a half mile from shore.

St. Germaine, in three separate trips and under highly difficult swimming conditions, pulled all three men to shore.

200 New Cargo Vessels Given Committee's O. K.

Washington, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The house appropriations committee recommended an emergency appropriation of $312,500,000 to build 200 new cargo ships to meet the threat of a world shipping shortage caused by submarine and air attacks.

President Roosevelt has said the need was urgent.

The money would be turned over to the Maritime Commission, which already has begun preliminary work on the program with $500,000 from the president's emergency fund and a contact authorization of $36,500,000.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the other. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

Think Fast, Uncle Sam, Think Fast!

There is always time to be right. The United States is today in much the position of Captain Flagg in "What Price Glory" when Sergeant Quirt flung at him the exultant and challenging "Think fast, Captain Flagg, think fast!"

On the "lease-lend" bill we must think fast. But that does not mean that we should not think at all. There is time to be right.

Nothing, either in speed or clarity, is gained by savage verbal pyrotechnics assailing all who would alter the bill by a title as "appeasers," or flaying those who favor the bill as interventionists already wading in blood up to the hips.

There are perfectly earnest, sincere men and women on both sides of this argument, and to impugn their sincerity is not the best tactics for their opponents to adopt. This is serious—far to serious to permit sacrificing accuracy on the altar of a phrase—as Senator Wheeler did when he referred to "plowing under every fourth American boy." It is far too serious to answer every criticism of the bill with a piercing shriek of "Appeaser! Appeaser!"

Coldly, wisely, and quickly, the American people must approach the problem laid before them here. This is definite, practical. It is of no service to wish we could render aid without risk of war—it is crystal clear that the only course entailing no present risk is to cut off aid completely. Few would wish to go so far. On the other hand, as new means of extending aid are devised, and that aid becomes a greater and greater factor in the struggle, the risk of being involved increases. This weighing of more effective aid against greater present risk, this weighing of less effective aid against greater future risk, every man must do for himself.

Debate, as long as it sticks strictly to the subject, as long as it contributes to clearer understanding of the issue, is good. For instance, there seem excellent grounds for limiting the extended presidential powers to a definite time, subject them to renewal. That makes it clearer that Congress is delegating its own powers temporarily, but retaining them permanently.

But filibustering, senseless delays, personal abuse, the calling of purple names, serve no good end.

We do not want to set this course unthinking and driven, in European style. We want to think, think fast, then act!

Calling the Roll

Smith, Lewis, Salvaggio, Feldman, Gottlieb, Murphy, Botticelli, Singer, Ginsberg, Marks, Melendez, Carlson, MacInnis, Coyle, Cooke, Kazarian, Walsh, Cangialosi, Markham.

You could almost sing those names, and they are a song, too, in a way. They are names from a list of New York men recently inducted into the military services, men whose names reveal their origins in many lands and far places, yet marching to the defense of the United States that has become their land.

The very variety in those names is something to glory in, something that has always been a mountain of strength, a never-exhausted spring of power. A list of the dead who lie in Argonne Forest would read just like that.

The United States is proud of its polyglot people, proud that here men of many bloods, lands, religions and races are united in a mightier bond than any of these—they are all Americans.

Putting the Bad in Badminton

Already those sacrifices we have been told must be made on account of the war in Europe are beginning to sit up and make faces at us. It seems that it's getting difficult to procure the shuttlecocks (corks with feathers stuck in 'em) that are batted about in the game of badminton.

American goose quills aren't tough enough, it seems, and the really tough ones which used to come, appropriately enough, from Greece, can't get through war zones.

Now is the time for all good geese to get tough for the sake of badminton. But if they can't make the grade, the quills of the American eagle are still plenty tough enough for even faster games.

The doubts and misgivings of our citizens are as dangerous to American democracy today as the submarines, airplanes, and bombs of Herr Hitler.—Dr. M. R. Traube of Pennsylvania State College.

Not since the days of the Civil War has a President faced more anxious or more critical days than has our own chief executive.—Archbishop John J. Cantwell of Los Angeles.

We may not have to choose between guns and butter, but the time is not far hence when we may have to choose between guns and automobiles.—American Youth Commission report.

When a British victory is in sight, there will be a revolution in France.—Andre Geraud (Pertinax), French newspaperman.

A Humboldt, Ia., farmer claimed the pancake eating championship after he'd downed 93. He said a mouthful!

Foreign names are barred for Jap bars and tea houses. We wonder if they still eat off of china.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON
(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Jan. 22.—Fresh accounts from American military observers in Europe picture the war to authorities here as freezing deeper and deeper into deadlock. The situation is simply this:

Hitler has broken the British blockade with his continental conquests. The Paris factories, for instance, were not destroyed or even harmed in the fighting because Paris was declared an open city. Hitler is now working these, as well as the famous Skoda works he conquered in Czechoslovakia, for the production of war munitions. He is getting all the iron he needs from Sweden. He has complete control over Roumanian oil and wheat.

The production in these occupied areas is said to be slow and difficult for German management. The French, Czechs, Poles and others are not moving fast under the lash of their masters, but they are producing increasingly for Hitler and their availability gives the Germans a tremendous production capacity, more than double what they had at the beginning of the war.

The British, on the other hand, are suffering difficulties in their production. They are hampered by bombings, lack of trained personnel and the physical difficulty of getting raw materials from all parts of the world to their little island. Swedish ore has been cut off, the granaries of central Europe are beyond their reach. Without American production they could not expect to last long.

These circumstances preclude the possibility of a British invasion of the continent. While there has been some talk about eventually organizing an expedition to go up through unoccupied France or Spain, such a venture is really not seriously considered possible by most British military authorities. Remember they lost much of their military equipment at Dunkerque and the equipping of such an expedition would require months if not years of preparation. They cannot even invade Italy because the internal line of axis communications gives the Germans opportunity to throw their forces into Italy faster than the British could hope to.

Therefore, all they can do is to blockade tactics and hope that Hitler will eventually encounter trouble internally and collapse. Clearly, Hitler is overextended now. Both he and Mussolini have been expending their commitments by easy conquests beyond their ability to manage their empires. The results are evident in North Africa and Greece, as well as Italy is concerned. Hitler's delay in going into the Balkans was a plain indication that he is not entirely free from the same difficulty. The care he has had to exercise in handling Britain is another indication of the weakness of his extended position. It is known in Vichy that Hitler does not like the old marshal, but dares not do much about it, because the chance of further easy conquests down through the Balkans or through occupied France and Spain would further lengthen his battleline. He would be committed to war on two fronts simultaneously, a commitment to which his general staff has been opposed. The only inviting prospect he has is to continue the line he has started—a single-purpose attack on England.

But even on this front his promised invasion is rated dubiously by objective military analysts. In fact some still doubt Hitler's ability to undertake it in the spring. Certainly the invasion cannot be fairly launched until the Germans gain control of British air. German tactics betray no evidence of an attempt to reach that result. Attacks have not yet been centered upon airfields. Not until Hitler switches to that type of attack will the military men believe that he really contemplates what the world has come to accept as a foregone conclusion. Of course, in desperation he may try invasion without air control—thereby shortening his prospects of success.

These signs all point, therefore, to a further tightening of the deadlock, to a war of at least two or three more years duration—unless someone gets desperate.

100 Italian Trucks on Blocked Road Bombed

Athens, Jan. 23.—(AP)—More than 100 Italian army trucks, trapped in a narrow mountain gorge when a bomb-dislodged boulder blocked the road, were destroyed by Greek bombing planes, the Greek air force reported from the central Albanian front last night.

A government spokesman announced advances of Greek artillery to new positions in the central front after infantry gains had cleared the way.

Waterpower in Canada is estimated to be about 18 million horse power, of which only a fraction—estimated to be less than 8 per cent—has been developed so far.

Steel production in the U. S. rose to the highest monthly volume on record in October.

AMERICA OUT-OF-DOORS

HOW TO CHOOSE THE PROPER SKIS

By Sig Olson

There are many factors to be considered in the selection of skis but the choice of the wood used is one of the most important. Skis must be both light and yet strong and tough. They must be flexible and be of a wood which provides a smooth gliding surface. Hickory and ash are the woods which have proven that they have the desired qualities.

Whether hickory or ash skis are to be purchased largely depends upon the price to be paid. The best grade of hickory makes the finest skis, and when it can be afforded it is worth the price. Hickory does spoil the skier for any inferior wood. Ash makes fine skis, though, and has the advantage of being considerably lighter in weight. If either hickory or ash skis are well cared for they will give long and satisfactory service.

The wood in skis must be well seasoned and of good, straight grain. A grain which is not straight will cause the skis to break at the point of strain and also will prevent smooth gliding. The grain should run parallel to the edges of the skis. Any wood which is at all knotty is not satisfactory for skis.

Beginners at skiing are prone to get skis which turn up in front to a marked degree. This is not wis as such skis make an added resistance to the snow surface and are no easier to handle. Abruptly curved tips are more likely to get broken in use than the falet variety. A curve which brings the tip of the ski five or six inches above the flat portions is the best and most practical.

What type of skiing the skis are to be used for governs the shape and style. For cross country runs the blades of uniform width for their surface length are the best. These, however, are hard to handle in making quick turns and another style should be used. The "telemark" type is the best for ordinary use and should be about the width of the sole of the boots worn.

Jumping skis are longer than those used in cross country travel. They are also wider. This is because a jumper needs a more solid landing base than does another skier. For length, the most practical skis are those approximately as long as the reach of the user above the ground when the arm is extended to its full length. A very heavy person should have longer skis than a light one because the additional surface will prove valuable.

Decatur Citizens Buy Kitchen for Britain

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A complete rolling kitchen, purchased at a cost of $2,000 from citywide contributions, was ready today for shipment to embattled Great Britain as a gift from Decatur.

The kitchen will be equipped to feed 200 persons at a time, either by carrying cooked food to them or by cooking it on the spot. It was planned as an aid in feeding persons whose homes have been bombed, fire fighters, rescue squads, or soldiers in the field.

Of the money, $1,100 was raised by a community treasure shop which split its earnings between British war relief and a local hospital. The remainder was private and club donations.

The kitchen will be shipped immediately.

CONSCRIPT'S WIFE

BY BETTY WALLACE

COPYRIGHT 1941 NEA SERVICE INC.

YESTERDAY, Martha decides to spend week ends in camp, give up the apartment to save money. She meets Suzanne Becker and the girl threatens to tell Bill of the Country Club dance. Martha realizes that Bill might believe in the moon, and she decides to stop Suzanne. A telegram summons her to her father's sick bed. In all, Martha must come at once.

AUNT MARTHA TAKES OVER CHAPTER XVI

THE hour and a half on the train, after hurried packing and a quick dash downtown in the cab, was like a nightmare to Martha Marshall. The rumbling wheels seemed to be saying, over and over, the words Eugene had used in his wire. "Helen critically ill. Helen critically ill. Helen critically ill."

The sick shock, the sudden all-consuming fear for her sister, drove everything else out of Martha's mind. Helen had never been strong, but she stood up to life and battled so valiantly! There was Eugene, and his little garage that seldom made money. There were the three small children, the oldest only 7. Helen did her own housework, her own washing, her own ironing. And now, she was in the hospital.

All those letters Helen had written later—those letters asking her to come and stay with them while Bill was in the Army—had they been Helen's indirect, indirect way of telling her that she needed help? Help for which Eugene was unable to pay?

A MOUNTING panic shook her as the train neared Bayville. She was standing on the platform, suitcase beside her, her hat on, her gloves on, clasping her handbag very tightly, when at long last the train rolled in.

Eugene was waiting for her. He was a short, stocky man, whose usually ruddy face looked pasty and green. There were deep rings under his eyes. He was worn, haggard, as if he hadn't slept for nights.

"How's Helen?" Martha shot at him immediately. "What was wrong with her? How long has she been in the hospital?"

"She's had a hard time," Eugene evaded. "They operated this morning and I—I kept hoping I wouldn't have to wire you..."

Her fingers were tight on his arm. "Do you mean Helen's—Helen's?" Her voice seemed to give out. She couldn't utter the horrible word which was searing into her. No. No. It couldn't be that bad. It couldn't be.

"She isn't rallying," said Eugene dully. "They're doing everything, but she won't rally."

"What was it?" He couldn't look at her. He muttered, "Complicated. She didn't tell me right away..."

It was after visiting hours at the hospital, of course. The quiet lobby was dark, with a pool of light over the switchboard. A nurse sitting there looked up.

She recognized Eugene, for she said at once, "Go right up, Mr. Nugent."

A nurse at the chart desk rose and walked toward them. Her rubber heels were almost soundless on the tile floor. "She's not sleeping, Mr. Nugent. You may go right in."

Martha braced herself as the nurse opened the door of a room just beyond the bay-windowed waiting room. She tried to put a smile to her lips, in case Helen should be lying there, watching the doorway, waiting for them.

But Helen wasn't coming who came or went, she realized in the next shocked second. Helen lay white and bloodless on the bed, with parched lips, with tumbled hair to which the odor of ether still clung. Her fever-bright eyes were fixed on the ceiling.

"Oh, Helen! Helen!" The cry was torn from her.

NEXT morning, Martha waited for the doctor in the hospital corridor. "How is my sister?" she asked him bluntly. "She seemed so strange last night—for a little while..."

The doctor had kind, shrewd eyes, and a reassuring smile. "She wasn't doing very well yesterday. But she's better now. I think your coming has helped her."

"Is she out of danger?" He made a tent of his fingers and said carefully, "It's hard to judge. But if she has nothing extraneous to worry about—if she can be made to think of nothing but getting well..."

So she telephoned Air Transport from the canteen in the hospital lobby. Paul wasn't in his office. She talked to the chief engineer. "My sister's very ill in the hospital. Very ill. I must stay here. There are three children, and she's been worrying... I don't know how long I'll be gone. Until she's well."

He was very kind, then. "All right, Mrs. Marshall. Don't worry about anything. I'll get a girl from Sales to help with your work until you're back."

Swiftly she planned her days. Morning visits to Helen, bringing the children. Send bring them neat and clean! Then home, lunch, tidying up the house, putting the children to bed for their naps. At 4, she'd slip back to the hospital, alone. By 6:30, when Eugene came home, dinner would be fixed, the children rested. In the evening Eugene could see Helen while Martha stayed with the children.

It was a good plan. But it didn't work.

GENIE, who was 5, and Sister, who was 7, could dress themselves all right. But the effect was weird. And Martha had to be dressing the baby, getting breakfast, feeding the baby, and somehow straighten herself out before they could go. By then the baby had to be changed. Genie had gotten his blouse dirty, the baby was crying, and it was 10:30 and

PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

"INSIDE YOUR CONGRESS"

Heavy Weight Champ

Everyone agrees that we should arm. But for what? For defense or offense? To fight abroad or at home?

In 1917 Woodrow Wilson said, "We are to be an instrument in the hands of God to see that liberty is made secure for mankind!" Echoes of this doctrine have reverberated in the White House recently. Wilson's creed led to the poppy fields of France. I tell for it—once!

A year later, July 4, 1918, Mr. Wilson said that our war aim was "The destruction of every arbitrary power anywhere that can separately, secretly, and of its single choice disturb the peace of the world." That sentence ought to be read slowly, pausing on each word.

It was a large order. Mr. Wilson had made his supreme mistake. He had misguided the common sense of Americans. Within 120 days his leadership had suffered a stinging defeat in the congressional elections. And two years later, Senator Harding, a very mediocre gentleman, was elected president by a larger per cent of the two party popular vote than F. D. R. ever received.

We are being scared into this war as we were in 1917. As a sample, we have the official statement that Africa is no farther from South America than Denver from Washington.

From Dakar, South Africa, to Pernambuco, Brazil, is 1500 miles. Herr Hitler will fly his bombers from Berlin to Dakar, from Dakar to Pernambuco, from Pernambuco to Washington, New York and Emporia Kansas. And blow us into very small bits.

Before we crawl under the bed, kindly beg, borrow or steal a globe, or map of the world. On a world map compare the English Channel, which has not yet been crossed, with the Atlantic and Pacific. Compare Germany with Texas. And measure distances.

From Berlin to Dakar is 2700 miles; then hop to Pernambuco, 500 miles south of the equator, another 1800 miles; then as the crow flies, to New York, 4000 miles. Drop your bombs and hurry back to Pernambuco 4000 miles, all told 12,500 miles.

Even a saber-rattling Fuehrer can't fly 12,500 miles, heavily loaded with death, without gasoline. Where are his gasoline stations? There is no petroleum in Dakar, on the edge of the Sahara desert. Scarcely a quart within 2000 miles.

There is none in Pernambuco, and practically none in all Brazil. But Hitler would have to build immense storage tanks, refineries, machine shops, air fields, barracks, hospitals, wherever his bombers stop. After he gets to Pernambuco he must then go another 2000 miles to Venezuela and Trinidad for petroleum, and haul it back, a round trip of 4000 miles, just to have a base to refuel after flying the South Atlantic.

There is no pipe line from Venezuela to Pernambuco. So our war lord would need to move his petrol in ships. His ships would have to come within a few miles of our air and naval bases in the Caribbean. But, of course, that will be easy for Hitler because we will all be shivering under the bed-clothes, not daring to find out what he is up to.

But perhaps Hitler will equip his bombers with coal burning engines, with tenders flying behind, like ornaments on a boy's kite. Where will he get his coal? Again, no coal in the Sahara desert, and none in Pernambuco. Brazil imports enormous quantities of coal from Great Britain, a round trip of 8000 miles! Her total production of a very inferior coal is only 883,000 tons annually. In 1938 we produced 345,000,000 tons of soft coal and 46,000,000 tons of anthracite. Total, 391,000,000 tons or 443 times as much as Brazil!

But going back to petroleum, the United States alone produces 1,213,000,000 barrels a year. This is more than twice as much as the rest of the world. 61 per cent of world right here at home. And with Venezuela, Trinidad, Mexico, etc., the western hemisphere produces 76 per cent of world total of the fuel and lubricants of war, or three times as much as all of Europe, Africa, Asia, Australia, and all points east.

Meantime, as Adolph gets farther from his base, he gets closer to ours. Anyone who ever played football knows that the going gets tough the nearer you get to the other fellow's goal line.

And now that we have gone into the renting business, why not ourselves rent Pernambuco or some other powerful sea and air base near by? Uncle Sam, tenant, to have and to hold. That might save us billions in armaments. And fix it so we wouldn't have the jitters every time war breaks out in Europe.

Americans, we have our choice. We can allow ourselves to be scared into another quixotic crusade to "destroy every arbitrary power anywhere." We can push up more poppies in France. Or we can keep our powder dry and defend this homeland of ours against the world.

Who is this guy Hitler anyway? In his own ring he is a tough little welter weight. But we are the heavyweight champion of the world. And don't let anyone tell you different. Yes, we're fat, and our timing has been bad. But we are The Champ. And the old one-two is getting ready to click. Any time der Furious gets into our back yard we'll lick him with one hand. And that goes for Benito Carnera and all them foreign champs!

Government Moves to End Strike at Allis-Chalmers Co.

Milwaukee, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The state and Federal governments took immediate action today seeking speedy settlement of a strike that has paralyzed the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, Wisconsin's largest industrial plant, and halted work on $26,000,000 worth of national defense orders.

Governor Julius P. Heil said he would make a personal inquiry into a controversy between the company and the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers union and offer his services as mediator. Heil helped settle a strike at the plant in 1939.

Shortly after the strike was called yesterday, the Department of Labor ordered Mgr. Francis H. Jans, of Catholic University, to proceed immediately to the strike scene as a special conciliator.

He was expected to arrive today and confer with Major James P. Holmes, resident conciliator, who has been attempting to settle the dispute for the last two weeks.

Holmes, awaiting the arrival of Monsignor Haas, said he was making every effort to hasten settlement and bring about resumption of work in this large national defense production unit.

The bulk of the firm's $26,000,000 in defense orders was for the navy. One order alone totaled $12,000,000 for warship turbines. The company also produces generators, shafts, pumps and gun mounts for the navy, and a variety of goods for the army. Other millions in defense orders are in drafting room stage.

7,000 Workers Affected
About 7,000 production workers were directly affected as all shop departments closed, office workers, draftsmen and supervisors, numbering about 2,000, did not join the walkout.

Max W. Babb, company president, said the management had "no plans for a conference."

"We offered to confer on every point except a closed shop, and on that point we will not confer", he stated.

Harold Christoffel, union president, said the union would confer whenever the management desired.

Other issues in the controversy were wage increases, re-hiring of laid-off men on a seniority basis, union insistence on discharge of two men, and union assertion that under a working agreement—drawn last May but never signed—the company had not taken sufficient steps to protect the organization's security.

The union has posted no pickets but has stationed watchers armed with motion picture cameras to photograph persons entering the plant gates.

I. H. C. SITUATION

Chicago, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A conference was set for today between leaders of the C. I. O.'s Farm Equipment Workers Organizing Committee and representatives of the International Harvester Company in an effort to avert a strike at the firm's Chicago tractor works.

This development in the Harvester's labor troubles followed announcement last night by Robert Travis, FEWOC field representative, that the union's members at the Chicago plant had voted 3,786 to 429 to authorize their leaders to call a strike if negotiations broke down.

Strike authorization was voted yesterday by members of two unions—the FEWOC and the Independent Harvester Employees Industrial Union—at the Milwaukee plant.

Meanwhile, the Harvester plants at East Moline, Ill., and Rock Falls, Ill., remained inactive following strikes.

Union jurisdiction, wages, and working conditions were among the issues in the disputes.

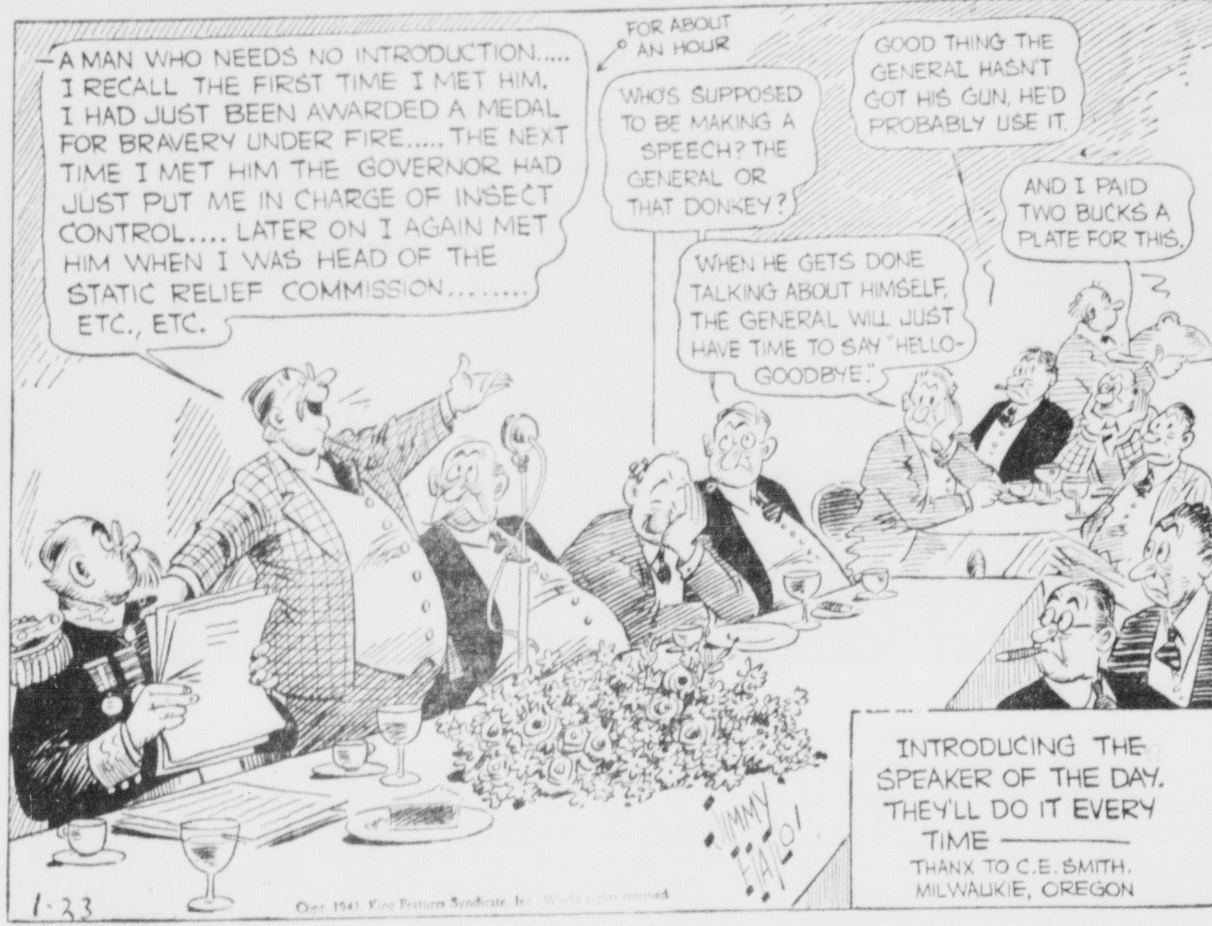

Resignation of Homer Mat Adams is Accepted

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The resignation of Homer Mat Adams of Urbana, national president of the Young Democratic club, as assistant director of the state department of finance was accepted today by Republican Governor Dwight H. Green.

The resignation, placed on file in the office of the secretary of state, was effective Jan. 20. Green said he did not expect to name a successor to Adams, or other Democratic officials who have submitted resignations, until after the legislature reconvenes Jan. 28. Appointments of code department officials require confirmation of the Senate.

They'll Do It Every Time

Fall of Tobruk of Great Importance to Great Britain

(By The Associated Press)

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Britain's mechanized Army of the Nile mopped up isolated Italian units today west of the Libyan stronghold of Tobruk, which capitulated yesterday after a 36-hour frontal attack culminating a 16-day siege.

Capture of the port, the best harbor between Alexandria and Tunis, gave the British undisputed control of 80 miles of the Libyan coastline and possession of an ideal base from which to continue their westward drive.

British circles in Cairo, jubilant over the fall, predicted that the remainder of Cirenaica (eastern Libya)—including the coastal bases of Derna and Benghazi—would be in the hands of General Sir Archibald P. Wavell's forces by spring.

These sources said the greatest obstacle to this achievement might be the German air force, which recently has been operating in the Mediterranean.

Tobruk's last defenses, the British high command said, fell at noon yesterday before the onslaught of Australian shock troops.

Thousands Captured
Thousands of Italians were said to have been captured when the Australians stormed into the town. Edward Kennedy, an Associated Press correspondent at the front, reported he saw one detachment of 4,000 prisoners on the opening day of the assault.

Considering the extent of the fighting, this observer said, British casualties appeared to be light, but the Italian losses were described as heavier than at Bardia—the Libyan port 65 miles to the east which fell at Wavell's men Jan. 5.

First hand accounts of assaults on Tobruk, which began at dawn Tuesday, said the British air force held unopposed control of the air throughout the attack.

The British fleet, which stood offshore and poured tons of explosives into the town, likewise was said to have met no naval opposition.

Strike Swiftly
Monday night the Australians struck swiftly at the center of the Tobruk defenses.

By nightfall Tuesday the British had penetrated both outer and inner defenses to a depth of eight miles and were within three miles of Tobruk itself.

The final assault came at dawn yesterday and by noon British headquarters announced: "The remainder of the defenses are in our hands."

Military circles said Tobruk is of great strategic value because it gives the British a port through which they can supply their army in Libya, which is now 200 miles west of the nearest railroad at Matruh, Egypt.

Only a few insignificant coastal settlements are scattered along the road to Tripoli, some 500 miles away.

Rockford-Camp Grant Bus Service Permit is Granted to Burlington

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A certificate to operate motor bus service between Rockford and Camp Grant was granted to the Burlington Transportation Company today by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The commission reported Camp Grant, where approximately 7,900 workers are employed in a construction program and where 8,000 to 10,000 army officers and enlisted men will be stationed, now is without authorized transportation service.

A commission announcement said the company would operate fifteen round trips of bus service between the camp and Rockford daily. The order restricted the company, however, from providing local service within the city of Rockford.

In another order today the commission dismissed an application of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad for authority to remove its station at Flagg, in Ogle county. The railroad asked the dismissal.

It is said that August is the worst month of the year for road accidents.

Weather Hampers Aerial Activities on Western Front

London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Two towns in East Anglia were targets for lone German air raiders today; in one some houses were wrecked, but no casualties were reported in either.

An air alert sounded in the London area in mid-morning also, but the "all clear" sounded a short time later.

A thick mist hung over the Dover Strait. Meanwhile British air raiders pounded at the Duesseldorf area in western Germany's industrial Ruhr valley during the night, ending several nights of inactivity caused by bad weather.

The attack, the 21st aimed at Duesseldorf's steel, oil and munitions works, was described as concentrated but of only medium scope because of the weather over the continent.

The official German news agency reported in Berlin that a small number of bombs dropped in western Germany early last night caused unimportant damage to private property.

Earlier, the air ministry reported RAF fighter planes, with six Polish fliers among their crews, launched two daylight machine gun attacks yesterday on German aircraft at landing fields and on troops and ground defenses in the channel coast to the Somme river.

37th Destroyer Lost
Destroyer losses of the British fleet mounted to an unofficial total of 37 with the announcement yesterday of the admiralty that the 1,340 ton Hyperion had been sunk by other British aircraft after

Report Hundreds Dead in Rumania, Result Civil War

(By The Associated Press)

Budapest, Hungary, Jan. 23.—The Rumanian government, announced today through its Budapest legation that it had quelled a "rebellion" by "notorious communists" and young iron guard extremists after many had been killed.

Public buildings in various parts of Rumania were reported cleared of "rebels" under orders from Premier General Ion Antonescu after his tolerance was taxed by a machine gun attack yesterday on the Bucharest building housing his office.

It was then, according to a statement issued through the Budapest legation, that Antonescu she was left helpless by a mine or torpedo.

There was no mention of the date or place the destroyer was sunk.

Reporting on African developments, British military circles said more than two divisions of Italian troops had been captured at Tobruk, bringing to about 100,000 the total number of prisoners taken so far in the North African campaign.

The fall of Tobruk was announced yesterday by the British Middle East high command at Cairo.

The British also were reported to have command of airports at El Adem, El Gazala and El Tinnin, and the seaplane base at Bomba. All these can be used as British bases, it was said.

In occupying Tobruk, the British said, their forces captured the headquarters of the 22nd Italian Army Corps and the commanding general and also the general commanding the fixed defenses of the town.

This brought to 14 the total number of Italian generals so far reported captured in the North African offensive.

When Faulty Digestion and Elimination Make You

WEAK, SICKLY NERVOUS

Take New Hope and Try DR. PETER FAHRNEY'S Original Prescription Forni's ALPEN KRAUTER

How is your health? Can you eat the things you like? If you are bothered with poor digestion and constipation due to faulty elimination, here may be a quick, easy way to help regain that "wake-up" feeling. For, as thousands upon thousands of folks can tell you, Dr. Peter Fahrney's original stomachic tonic, called Forni's ALPEN KRAUTER, after five generations, still working with nature to help to build up resistance in run-down systems; to stimulate the appetite; to aid digestion so you get more benefit from the food you eat; to gently rid the system of waste matter that may be the cause of headaches, nervousness, gas and indigestion.

"instructed the army and police to reestablish order".

The machine gun attack on the premier's office was said in the official statement to have been organized with 600 iron guard legionnaires by General George Petrovicescu, who is reported to have been ousted Tuesday as interior minister.

The statement did not disclose what had become of General Petrovicescu.

The legation statement said Antonescu had become "complete master" of the situation.

Report Hundreds Killed
From Sofia, Hungary, hundreds were reported killed in Nazi-dominated Rumania in bitter and rapidly spreading civil warfare between Rumanian extremists and troops supporting chief of state General Ion Antonescu.

Hungary, which won a big slice of the province in Transylvania in an axis-dictated settlement last fall, was reported to be calling up additional troops. Observers in the Yugoslav capital pointed out that Hungary wants still more of Transylvania.

The Turkish cabinet met to discuss the turbulence in Rumania and the presence of hundreds of thousands of German troops there.

The German soldiers had been expected to intervene in the strife, but apparently were steering clear, since dispatches received through the censorship made no mention of them.

The rebels were said to claim that more than 30,000 men were fighting on their side.

(The British radio, in a report picked up by NBC in New York, quoted Rumanian radio stations as ordering all iron guard stations to await orders from Vice Premier Floria Sima, the iron guard leader.)

Weekly Food and Marketing Letter by Mrs. Emily M. Lautz for Dixon Telegraph Readers

Tired of turkey? Federal experts of the Fish and Wildlife Service of the Department of the Interior today have come to the aid of the homemakers who are swamped by the daily problem of planning post-season "tired-of-turkey" meals.

The service has been conducting a nation-wide survey in the interest of the busy homemaker and states that "there is an abundance of species of fish and shellfish available in our markets from which the housewife may select to add variety and substantial food value to the family table."

In other words, every state has its winter-time fish specialties, which should be used more frequently on the table to add valuable food elements to menus, as well as interest and variety.

In the nation's capital, croaker, or hardhead, the little speckled brown 1½ pounder, ranks all other species during the holidays and January. Only a "hoot and holler away," Baltimore seems to favor the squeteague, a 3 to 5 pound fish, sometimes called the sea trout. Down Richmond, Virginia, way they also select the croaker, as well as the king mackerel; Norfolk, to be different, prefers flounders, and prepares them as "filet of sole."

In and around Washington, they like croaker in what is locally called the Chesapeake Bay stew. This calls for a medium-sized croaker (about 1½ pounds), cleaned and gashed crosswise through to backbone; potatoes, sliced crosswise and rather thin; onion, salt and pepper to taste. Add only enough water to produce sufficient steam for cooking, which does not require much time.

Savannah puts whiting at the top of the list, and probably fries or sautees them. In Atlanta, as well as in Birmingham, Alabama, the croaker again is the No. 1 fish. In Columbia, S. C., the hardhead mullet tie for first place. In Tennessee, Memphis selects the buffalofish, with catfish and groupers the runners-up. Groupers, a prettily mottled fish, are a favorite in the South, excellent for baking whole, as steaks or as fillets.

Nashville favors oysters, and is likely to serve them grilled, in this manner: One pint of select oysters. Place 1 to 2 tablespoons butter in a hot pan. When it smokes, drop in the oysters, a few at a time. When they are browned, remove to a hot dish and pour over them a sauce made of melted butter, thickened with flour. Mince parsley may be added when sauce is removed from heat. Season with table sauce, salt and cayenne. Serve on toast, garnished with parsley.

Mobile, Alabama, takes red snapper—a handsome fish with red scales known as the "quality" fish of the South. Small snappers may be broiled. However most desired market sizes are 6 to 10 pounds. It is on the fishery for this species that Pensacola bases its title, "The Gloucester of the South." Orientals consider red snapper a "lucky" fish. Japanese in Seattle, Washington, send all the way to Pensacola, Fla., for red snapper to serve as a "luck bringing" dish at their New Year feast. Excellence of red snapper as a baking fish is almost without parallel.

In baking red snapper or a bland fish in which flavor should be accented, add ½ tablespoon anchovy paste to the stuffing. Sliced cucumbers in French dressing are popular as an accompaniment for baked or broiled fish.

In New Orleans, it is shrimp—with squeteague the favorite winter-time fish. Shrimp support the most important fish industry on the South Atlantic and Gulf coasts and shrimp canning is the most important fish industry on the industry of the South.

Why not surprise the family with French-fried shrimp for a luncheon or dinner surprise treat? Prepared with pure shortening, fried shrimps are tender, digestible, delicious. You will need:

French-Fried Shrimp
1½ pounds green shrimp.
2 eggs
Juice 2 lemons
Salt, pepper
Sifted cracker crumbs
Hot shortening
Peel shrimp, wash and remove sand vein. Place them in a bowl with lemon juice, salt and pepper to taste and allow them to stand (marinate) 15 minutes. Heat shortening 380-400 degrees F. Beat the eggs. Dip shrimp in eggs and then roll in crumbs. Place a single layer in frying basket and cook 3 minutes. (Rub a few with each helping of chowder.)

DELICIOUS DESSERTS Banana Butterscotch Pie ¾ cup firmly packed brown sugar

5 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 ripe bananas
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
Combine sugar, flour and salt in top of doubleboiler. Add milk slowly, mixing thoroughly. Cook over rapidly boiling water until well thickened, stirring constantly. Cook 10 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Stir a small amount of hot mixture into egg yolks, then pour back into remaining hot mixture while beating vigorously. Cook 1 minute longer. Remove from heat and add butter and vanilla. Cool.

Peel and slice bananas into baked pie shell and cover immediately with filling. Garnish with fluted slices of ripe bananas just before serving.

Note: Be sure the filling is well thickened before beginning to count the "10-minute" cooking time.

This filling may be made with light or dark brown sugar. The darker sugar gives a richer butterscotch flavor.

Two-Fruit Tapioca 1 No. 2 can Florida blended Orange-and-grapefruit juice. ¼ cup water

4 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
½ cup sugar
¼ cup salt
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
Fresh fruit juices may be used, or the can of blended juices. Combine the juice, water, tapioca, sugar and salt in a saucepan. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir occasionally while cooking. When thoroughly chilled and thickened, fold in whipped cream. Serves 6.

PARTY TREATS Pear-Cheese Salad

Colorful for any occasion is this salad. Think of it, too, for February parties, such as St. Valentine's.

2 No. 2½ cans large canned pears (12 halves)
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese
½ cup current jelly
6 green Maraschino cherries
Lettuce

Remove pears from syrup. Add sufficient coloring to the syrup to make it a deep red. Place pears in the syrup and allow to remain until tinted a delicate pink. Drain on cloth or paper towel.

Place the two cut sides together, then cut a slice off the large end of each pear, thus formed to make it stand straight and give appearance of a bell. Spread cut side of each half with the cream cheese and fill each cavity with currant jelly. Place pear halves together to form a whole pear and place in cups of lettuce or other greens.

The Maraschino cherry may be placed whole on each pear, or ade more decorative by making 5 or 6 cuts in each cherry through the pitted end to within ¼ inch of the round end, dividing it into 10 to 12 sections. Place flat on paper napkins with outside of cherry up; press flat in center and separate petals. Place a flowering cherry on the top of each bell. Serve with mayonnaise. This serves 6.

FAVOR CITY MANAGERS

Chicago —(AP)—H. Barry McCormick, chairman of the city manager committee, said that city manager hills similar to those defeated in the 1937 and 1939 general assemblies would be introduced before the current legislature. The measures would enable citizens of any city in Illinois to adopt the city manager plan by circulating referendum petitions and obtaining a majority of the voters.

1/4 cup sugar 5 slices canned pineapple, drained and cut in quarters
1 1/4 teaspoons salt 1 egg, beaten
Sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt together. Combine egg and milk; add to dry ingredients, beating until smooth. Add Spry and mix well. (Makes your fritters tender as can be.)
Dip pineapple pieces in batter and fry in deep hot Spry (375° F.) about 4 minutes. Drain on paper. Serves 6. Use paper Spry for all your frying. No unpleasant smoke or odor and foods are so digestible fried the Spry way a child can eat them.

STUDY FARM PROGRAM

Washington—(AP)—A four day study of the 1941 Federal farm program, preliminary to directing sign-up activities in their respective states, was concluded by agricultural conservation committee chairmen from 10 midwestern states. Among those attending was Lee M. Gentry, Illinois chairman. Mississippi has a coastline of about 85 miles.

FBI Agent Speaks to Elks and Sons Here Last Night

"There are those from European countries within our midst who would sacrifice even their lives to deprive us of our American liberty," Robert E. Lee, Federal Bureau of Investigation agent of the Chicago district, said in an interesting talk given last evening before 200 Elks and their sons at the club house. The event was the first Elks' fathers' and sons' banquet, which is to become an annual event in the Dixon lodge.

The F. B. I. agent related the principal necessary qualifications for prospective applicants in this branch of service. 1,400 of whom are now stationed in various sections of the United States and its possessions. He referred briefly to the identification system through which about 14,000,000 finger prints are now on file in Washington, D. C., and where these are so classified that identification can be made possible within five minutes after the filing of duplicate prints.

In his reference to crime, Agent Lee stated that in 1939 an alarming discovery was made from the files of cases of the F. B. I. In the identification department, he said, a majority of the cases were of individuals under 21 years of age. From these facts, he stated, the age of 18 had been found to be the dangerous age.

Crime comes in the main with the under-privileged groups, he added, with possible exceptions. The county jail or the state prison, he told his listeners, was merely the solution of crime, but merely acted as the best method available at the present time. Young criminals and all too often older criminals are found to be repeat offenders even after serving jail or prison sentences.

Speaking on the subject of internal security in the United States, Agent Lee said that a great deal of speculation concerning the much discussed fifth column and its activities, existed throughout the country.

"It behooves us Americans to show to all of the countries of the world that we are prepared to protect our own shores," he said as he expressed his personal opinion that the United States would not become involved in the European conflict.

Foreign Agents Active
The agents of foreign countries, he said, are already present in the United States and every citizen should be concerned about their presence. At the close of the bureau's files at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1940, the agent stated, 17,000 complaints had been received of suspected foreign agents, presence, which which had been investigated.

"There are those who would sacrifice their lives to deprive us of the liberties afforded by our American system of government," he said, "and these are in our country now".

The agent encouraged the filing of reports with the bureau of suspected subversive activities from every section of the country or its possessions, but strongly discouraged hysterical action by groups of citizens either singly or as organized units in either investigating or attempting to effect a solution of suspected cases. Espionage, he said, was not a new subject to the bureau but had become a subject of a considerable amount of public concern, which has been created largely through publicity. Hysteria, he added, can and does cause great harm in the investigating of suspected cases.

At present all of the citizenry is subjected to a tremendous program of propaganda, Lee said, then added: "In all cases we plead that the public be sensible, that they have faith in the bureau which is pledged to this work and I can assure you that no one is going to overthrow our government."

At the close of his address, Lee answered several questions concerning the bureau. Included in this group of queries was one which asked:

"Has the work of your bureau been helped or hampered by the Dies committee?"

The F. B. I. agent smiled, then stated that he would answer the question, which he did.

Says Dies Hampered F. B. I.
"Congressman Dies is a sincere individual. I believe personally that he has served a function and there his value has ceased. The information coming to the bureau is not handed out to newspaper reporters as are results of the Dies committee investigations. We do not seek publicity. The information that the Dies committee has obtained is not at all new to the bureau. In reply to the question, I would say personally that in some instances, the investigations and subsequent actions of the Dies committee has hindered our work, however, I repeat, Congressman Dies is a very sincere man."

The speaker was asked whether there were actual cases on record of recent sabotage in the United States. To this he replied that at present there is no organized attempt to commit sabotage in this country. The organization, he added, is in existence in this country but has not begun to operate as a group. In any reported cases of alleged sabotage, he said, only individuals were concerned and not an organized group. In concluding his answer to this question Agent Lee said:

"We are more concerned in halting sabotage before it starts."

Exalted Ruler M. M. Memler presided as toastmaster throughout the evening. Richard Keller furnished the accompaniment to the group of patriotic songs which preceded the speaking program. The Rev. Herbert J. Doran, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, pronounced the invocation. Warren Walder, son of H. F. Walder, P. E. R. and past district deputy, gave the toast to the fathers and the toast to the sons was given by Past Grand Exalted Ruler H. C. Warner.

Awarding to Jobs to Deserving Republicans May Start in a Month

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—John T. Dempsey of Chicago, chairman of Governor Dwight H. Green's patronage committee, said today that he hoped the transfer of "deserving and qualified" Republicans to the state payroll would begin within a month.

The five-man patronage committee conferred with Green late yesterday. Dempsey announced after the meeting that state department directors already were making "surveys of their payrolls to determine what positions are available for Republicans."

A Springfield office will be opened by the patronage committee to handle the thousands of applications for jobs and to recommend party workers for state jobs.

Dempsey said he had no idea as to how many jobs would be available.

Judge Advocate of 33rd Resigns Political Posts

Chicago—(AP)—Alderman Jacob M. Arvey, a key figure in the Kelly-Nash Democratic organization in Chicago, said he would resign Monday as a member of the city council and as a ward committeeman to spend a year in the army. With the rank of major, Arvey is judge advocate of the 33rd Division, Illinois National Guard, which will go to Camp Peay, Tenn., next month for training.

Roosevelt Keep Own Counsel on Picking Justice

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—Picking a successor for Associate Justice James Clark McReynolds on the Supreme court bench became a major occupation in the Capital today, and the name most frequently mentioned was that of Attorney General Jackson.

President Roosevelt, however, kept his own counsel as to who would receive the sixth Supreme Court appointment he has made since taking office.

As far as conjecture went, the field was wide open. Some thought the coveted post might go to Senator Byrnes (D-SC), whose nomination would satisfy those who believe a southerner should be picked.

Besides Jackson and Byrnes, others discussed were:

Francis Biddle, Solicitor General;

Thurman Arnold, Assistant Attorney General;

Senator Barkley (D-Ky);

Charles Fahy, Assistant Solicitor General;
Senator Wagner (D-NY);
Former Senator Ashurst (D-Ariz);
Former Senator Minton (D-Ind), now an executive assistant to the president;

Woman Mentioned

Florence E. Allen of Cleveland, Circuit Court judge in the Sixth Federal district.

Robert P. Patterson, Undersecretary of War, a Republican;

Lloyd K. Garrison, dean of University of Wisconsin law school;

James M. Landis, dean of Harvard law school and former chairman of the Securities Commission;

Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago;

Donald R. Reichberg, former NRA Administrator;

J. D. Wickham, member of the Wisconsin Supreme court.

Those who rated Jackson's chances high said that if he got the appointment, Biddle might be moved up to Attorney General and Fahy to Solicitor General.

Justice McReynolds, in his letter of resignation to Roosevelt yesterday, fixed its effective date as Feb. 1. Actually the court days of the 78-year-old jurist were over, for the tribunal adjourned does not convene again until Feb. 3—McReynolds's 79th birthday.

M. Reynolds will be the fifth living retired member of the court. The others are: John H. Clarke, 83, who retired in 1922; Willis Van Devanter, 81, who stepped down in 1937 during the court reorganization battle; George Sutherland, 78, who retired in 1938; and Louis D. Brandeis, 84, who retired in 1939.

Camera Sidelights on Britons' Bomb - Conditioned Existence

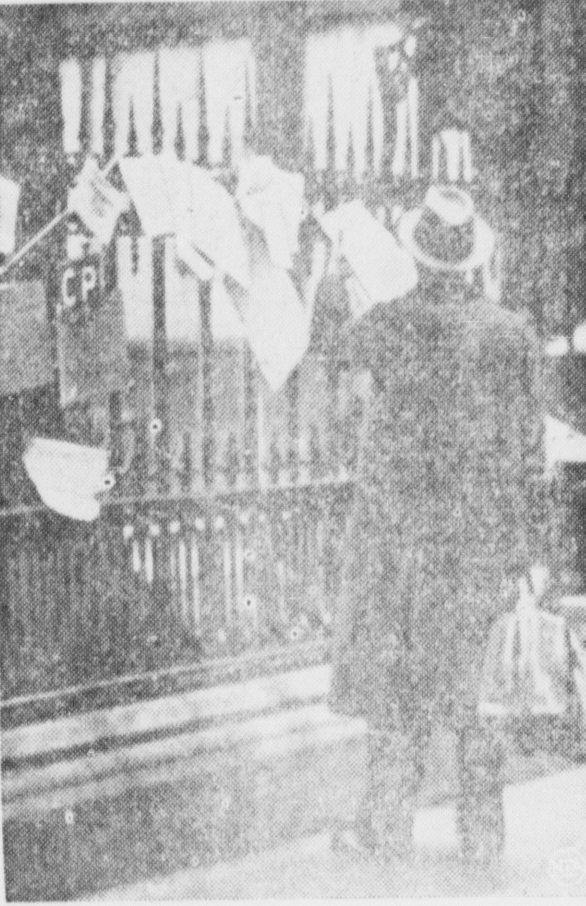

"ADDRESS DISAPPEARED"—London's postmen sometimes wake up to find parts of their routes gone—blasted to bits by night-raiding German bombers. Above, a woman whose home was destroyed has sought out the postman to get her mail.

SCHOOL KEEPS—Bombs or no bombs, school goes on. In background are blasted buildings of St. Mary-of-the-Angels Song School, at Addis Ababa. Above, the pupils are totting their books and belongings to a new school at Lee-on-Sea.

CANINE HERO—Trapped in her bomb-damaged air raid shelter at Purley, England, Mrs. Marjorie French was rescued when "Chum," the big Airedale with whom she's pictured, pawed through debris, digging a hole big enough to pull her through.

REMOVAL NOTICES—London firms forced to find new quarters because bombs destroyed their old ones publicize their new addresses and other information by hanging notices on this "bulletin board." It's a wrought-iron railing protecting one of London's few plane trees.

No Paper This Week, So Sorry!

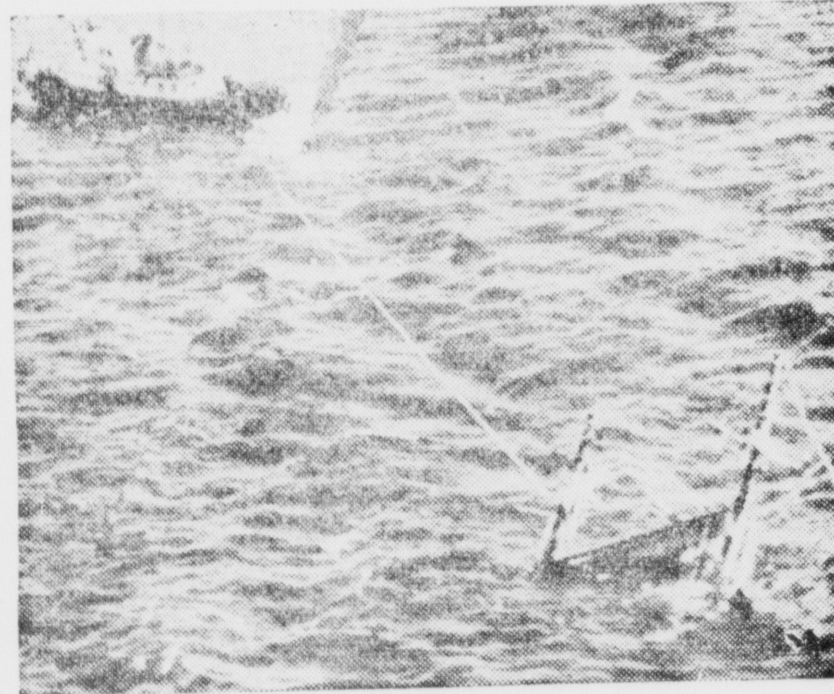

When publisher S. Nagaoka of Fresno, Calif.'s Japanese Times fired his pressman, Tatsumi Watanabe, the disgruntled pressman took a pot-shot at him, succeeded in overturning eight cases, containing some 300,000 Japanese typographical characters. Result: the Times won't publish for a while, until Mr. Nagaoka, above, sorts "pied" type.

John D.'s Grandson in the Army

Survivors Tell How 18 Died After Wreck

Five survivors told how one by one the other eighteen members of the crew of fishing schooner Mary E. O'Hara slipped to death from mainmast into icy waters of Boston harbor, after the boat sank following collision. A tugboat is shown attempting to tow the sunken hull with a line to mast, the only part of boat remaining above water. (NEA Telephoto.)

Desert Warriors Strike for Britain in East Africa

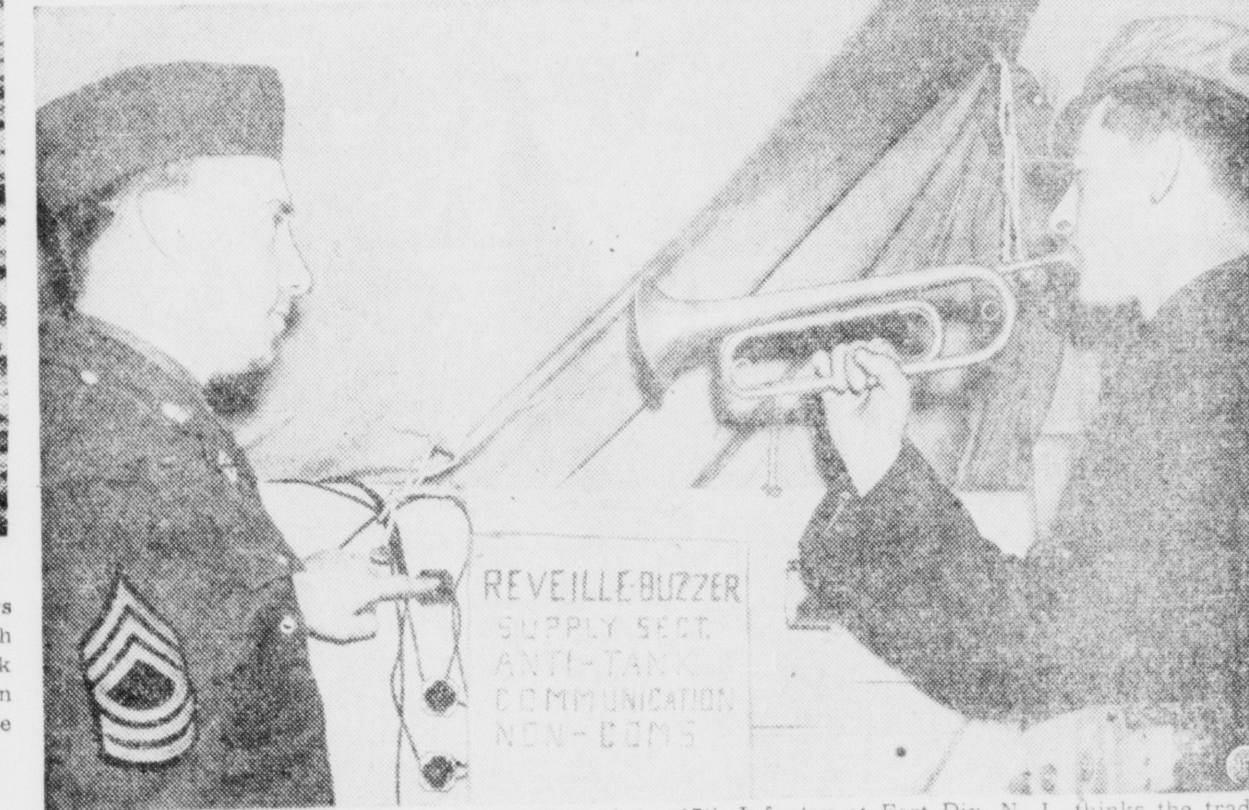

Native members of Britain's Sudan Defense Force leap from their trucks to go into action during one of the attacks on the Eritrean border, which British reported were climaxed by the defeat of Italians all along the 200-mile Sudanese front. British claim two Italian divisions (23,000 men) were routed with more than 2000 casualties from the Kassala area.

British Recapture East African Fort

While British Army of the Nile drives deep into Libya in the north, recently reinforced British units harass Italians on another front—the Sudan-Ethiopian border. British troops above having retaken Fort Ghabat on the frontier, watch alertly for the enemy—only 200 yards away.

Bugler Blows "Taps" To Job

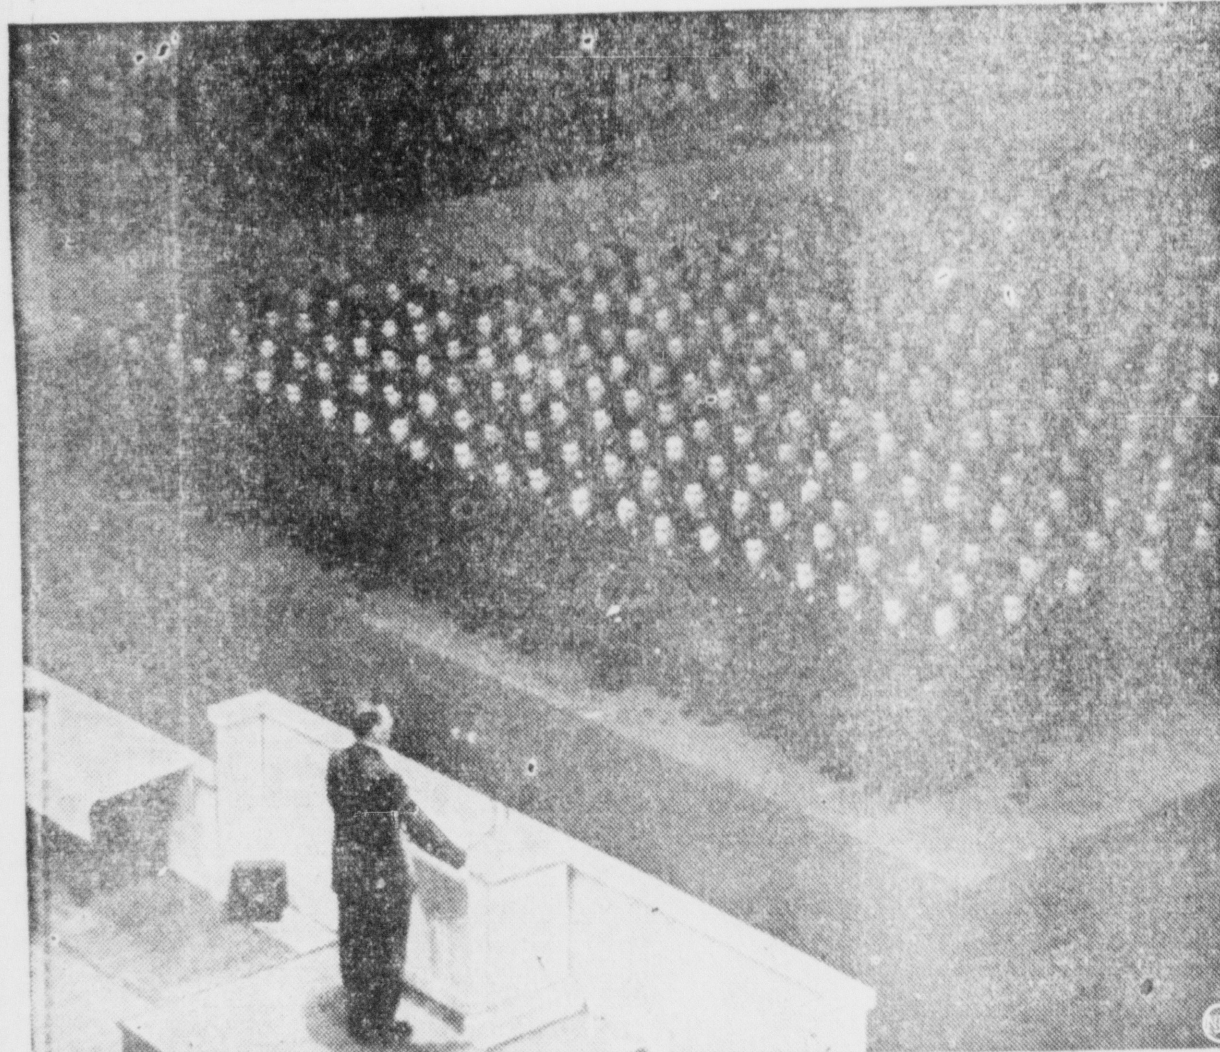

Master Sergeant Charles Henry, left, member of the 17th Infantry at Fort Dix, N. J., thinks the traditional bugle reveille "down each morning to rout his men from their beds too musical. Above, he demonstrates his invention—a raspy buzzer connected with each tent, guaranteed to wake the soundest sleeping private—as bugler Daniel Dewey blows "Taps"—"Good-night"—to his job.

Western Outpost for U. S. Defense?

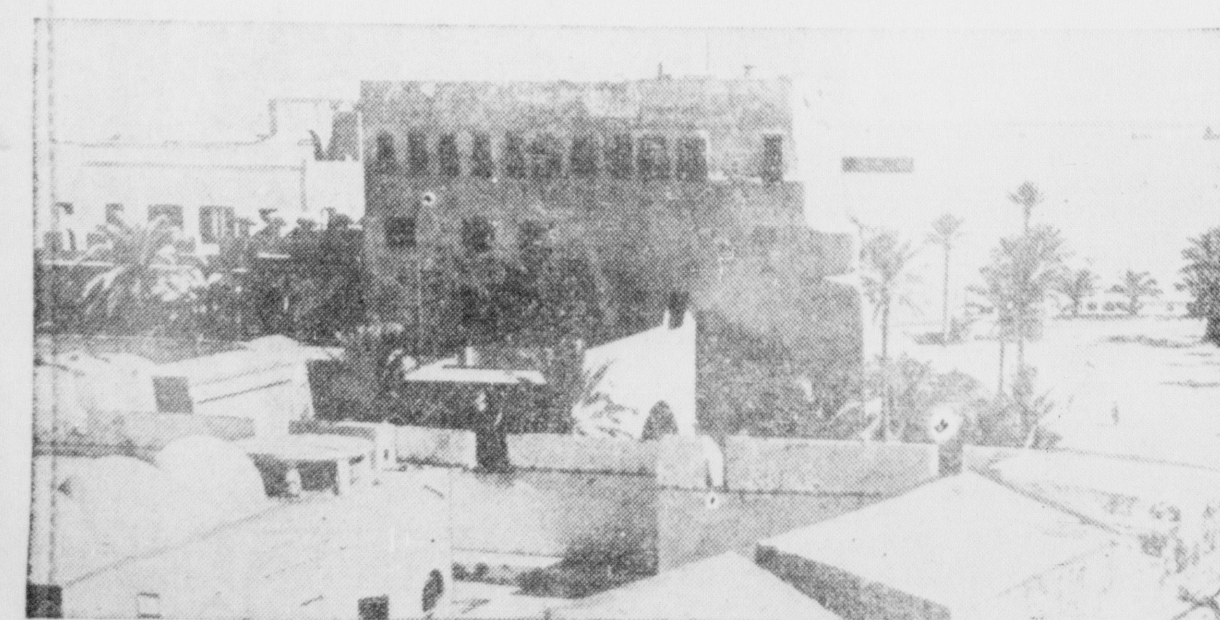

With eastern defenses bolstered by bases strung from Newfoundland to South America, Uncle Sam turns eyes westward, 1000 miles out into the Pacific to the lonely Galapagos Islands, owned by Ecuador. Deal was recently reported whereby Ecuador would cooperate with the U. S. in building air and naval bases on the islands which guard Pacific approach to Panama Canal. Above is a view of barren, rock-barriered beach at Charles Island, one of the group.

TICKETS FOR BENEFIT GAMES REDUCED

COACH RETURNS

Coach L. E. Sharpe of Dixon high school returned yesterday afternoon from LaPorte, Ind., where he had been called by the serious illness of his father. The elder Mr. Sharpe was reported to be improved.

WHEN IT RAINS, IT POURS

Coach James Trees of the DeKalb high school is a firm believer in the adage that it never rains but what it pours. Tuesday, when in Rockford on business, ice-covered pavements prevented another driver from stopping her car and as a result her machine and that of the coach crashed. Temporary repairs were made on the Trees car and Jim started for home, but when near Kirkland additional faults caused by the accident developed and it was necessary to pull the car from a field and send for help from DeKalb. Mr. Trees was brought back to DeKalb suffering only minor injuries of stiffness and bruises.

ATTEND FIGHTS IN STERLING

Earl Slagle, Jr., George Dorland, Ben Gilbert, Donald Miller, Adam Fazzi and Bill Williams were among those from Dixon who attended the Golden Gloves preliminaries in Sterling last night.

IN THE MAIL FROM PAW PAW

Dick Meade, our correspondent from down Paw Paw writes in this morning to tell us (and you): "I predicted that Paw Paw was the team to beat in the G. R. V. C. Tourney before Christmas. Ashton did beat them 42 to 40 in the finals, in a game Paw Paw would have won with even a resemblance of a good break. Well, the locals will start play in the Little Ten tourney on Tuesday evening, January 28, meeting Plano in the first game. This Little Ten conference has a number of teams about equally matched and should be a whiz to watch. Again I'm going to stick out my chin and predict Paw Paw to give all the favorites a scare. I pick them to whip Plano by a close score, to trounce Leland. Well if they do that, I'll pick the semifinal game when it comes. Paw Paw has won 7 and lost 6. However, three of those losses could just as easily have been victories. Paw Paw lost to Plano 21 to 19 in an overtime, to Sandwich 31 to 29, and to Ashton 42 to 40. The Earlville and Hincley losses were by six points, close games all the way. snabbona caught the locals on their own small court and used a zone defense with the ceiling about as low as an ordinary living room and trounced them bad. Well, Don, I'm still sticking with that band of fighting Flanchermen. With the addition of big Jack Fleming, they are tough."

KNACKS' RIVALS TONIGHT

Fred Warning, who is in charge of arrangements for the charity basketball game at Rochelle tonight has announced the winners in the poll to pick an all-star team to meet the Dixon Knacks. Results gave the following players a berth on the team: Trowbridge, Carter, Cooper, Haeffl, Bob Russell, Jerry Harms, Guio, Dame, Dale Harms and Myroth. Proceeds will be added to the Infantile Paralysis fund of Ogle county.

BOB DEAN OF ASHTON SAYS

Bob Dean, scribe for the Ashton Gazette, writes of the town's popular basketball team: "The fame of the unbeaten Aces is growing by leaps and bounds and will soon reach state-wide acclaim, for the Freeport Journal-Standard has discovered that the Aces have the best record of any team in the state of Illinois. George F. Schunk has written for the low-down on an article, and so with the boosts Rockford and Dixon papers, not to mention The Ashton Gazette, have been giving them, the Aces will soon be eligible for movie contracts. Schunk bases his belief that Ashton's record is the best in the state from a summary by Pat Harmon of the Champaign News-Gazette, sportscaster deluxe, which showed nothing better in the state. Stockton with a 10-game record is the only other unbeaten team in northern Illinois, Schunk says."

DIXON BOXER IS OUTPOINTED

Lloyd Gilbert of Dixon was outpointed in his fight with Ed Utley of Kewanee last night in the preliminaries of the Golden Gloves tournament at Sterling. In other bouts: Tom Vasquez of LaSalle knocked out Don McMerney of Harmon in the second round; Charles Watkins of Walnut won a close decision over Floyd Reynolds of Princeton; Joe Leahy of Fulton knocked out Kenneth McCracken of Ansoy in the 147-pound class after two minutes and ten seconds in the first round; Bob Hicks of Harmon, a novice middleweight, was awarded a technical knockout after flooring Robert Lay of Princeton several times in the first two rounds. More than 800 fans saw the fights at the Coliseum.

PRINCETON-DIXON GAME IS "NO DICE"

Princeton high school authorities have asked that tomorrow night's assignment with the Dixon Dukes be postponed no matter what the outcome of the tournament game is tonight in which the Tigers meet Spring Valley. Princeton claims that due to the semester recess there is no way to inform its student body about the Dixon-Princeton game if the Tigers were to be eliminated from the Bureau county event tonight. Last night Princeton took Tiskilwa 39 to 34, and tonight meets stiff competition against Spring Valley. The Dixon-Princeton game has now been set for Feb. 8.

Oklahoma Coach Is Offered Job at Marquette U.

Milwaukee, Jan. 23—(AP)—Tom Stidham, head football coach and athletic director at the University of Oklahoma, has been offered a contract as head coach at Marquette University, it was reported.

Stidham, reached at Norman, Okla., said he was considering an offer from Marquette but that he had reached no decision.

"I've talked with Marquette officials and I'm flattered to learn that they have placed me at the top of their list," he said when informed of reports he was first choice to succeed John L. (Paday) Driscoll, who resigned.

"Of course, I'm considering their offer, but we have reached no agreement. That's as much as I can say."

No Comment

Marquette, authorities would not comment on the reports beyond saying that "no contract has been signed with Stidham." It was reported, however, that a contract would be signed in the near future. The contract was said to be for three years.

Stidham, who succeeded Major Biff Jones as head coach at Oklahoma in 1937, still has two years remaining on his present contract. In 1938, he piloted the Sooners to a Big Six championship.

Stidham, a 240-pound husky, was one of the greatest tackles ever developed at Haskell Institute. After leaving Haskell, he served as line coach at Northwestern university under Dick Hanley.

Dukes Meet East Rockford Here Saturday Eve

West Brooklyn Bows to Kings For Second Time

For the second time this season Ray Walter's West Brooklyn team was nipped last night by Kings—and by almost the same score as their previous meeting. Last night the Kings team won 27 to 24, and in an earlier meeting the same team had beat out an overtime game, 27 to 25.

Last night's loss was the fifth in ten games for West Brooklyn this season. The two teams fought through a 6 to 6 deadlock in the opening period before the Waltermen scored five points to the hosts' four in the second stanza, Kings rallied with 10 points in the third period to take the lead and held the margin although West Brooklyn outscored the opponents, 9 to 7, in the last frame.

High scorer of the game was Baker of Kings with 18 points. Ege led West Brooklyn with 12 tallies.

Kings won the preliminary game, 22 to 21.

Starting next Wednesday the West Brooklyn team will participate in the Meridian Conference tournament at Lee.

Frank Alonzo of East Siders to Play in Last Game Here

PROBABLE LINEUPS

Bugg (6-1)	f	Ancauskas (5-10)
Witzleb (6-1)	c	Lee (6-1)

TIME AND PLACE: Dixon high school gymnasium Saturday night. Lightweight game to start at 7 o'clock and varsity encounter to follow.

HEAD COACHES: James A. Laude (East Rockford); L. E. Sharpe (Dixon).

OFFICIALS: Quinten Bere of Freeport and Willard Powers of Mt. Morris.

Expert shooting, teamwork and passing—that's what good basketball players are made of.

The Dixon Dukes have one of their severest tests of the current season here Saturday night when they have the chance to show their "stuff" in a non-conference game with East Rockford. The week-end visitors are one of the two teams which has succeeded in bumping off the Dukes this year and there's no reason why there shouldn't be a good chance for the East Siders to do it again.

LAUDEMEN SEEK SECOND TRIUMPH OVER THE HOSTS

Knacks' Blitzkrieg Smothers Franklin Grovers, 88 to 11

A Knacks' blitzkrieg rolled over the Franklin Grove Merchants, 88 to 11, (yes, that's right) at Kersten gymnasium last night in one of two benefit games with proceeds to go to fighting infantile paralysis.

Mrs. Babe Ruth Says Bambino Is Through for Keeps

By SID FEDER

New York, Jan. 23—(AP)—From Mrs. Babe Ruth came the surprising word today that the Babe is through with baseball for keeps, let the offers fall where they may.

Talking for the one-and-only Bambino, simply because his larynx is so sore he couldn't talk for himself, Mrs. Ruth disclosed this bit of news after revealing that the "flu" bug has bitten the Babe and has kept him in bed since Sunday.

"There's nothing to the report that Babe is planning to become manager of the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league," Mrs. Ruth said.

"In fact, the Babe isn't planning to work in baseball any more at all, regardless of what offers he may receive. We feel he's worked hard enough in baseball and he'll take it easy now."

At the moment, the Babe wasn't much interested in baseball, his golf, bridge, or even the size of his wandering waist-line. Mrs. Ruth explained two doctors have been treating him and that day and night nurses are helping them out.

It's not that Ruth is critically ill, but, as Mrs. Babe explained it,

"the flu's the flu", and you have to be careful.

Only a week ago, Ruth was reported to have said he had changed his mind about managing ball clubs and would even be willing to take a minor league berth now. After Jack Lelivelt died Monday night, the Babe was reported in line as his successor as manager at Seattle.

Shaughnessy Asked To Divulge His Secret Formation

Chicago, Jan. 23—(AP)—There might be such a thing as a football coach outsmarting himself—even in the off season.

At least Clark Shaughnessy is giving the matter some thought as he ponders numerous requests that he divulge the secret of the Stanford Indians' amazing gridiron success.

The coach of the Rose Bowl champions and currently the most successful advocate of the "T" formation in college football has received 14 bids for his service at coaching schools. That's a tribute, certainly, but let Shaughnessy explain:

"I'd have to do a conscientious job. I'd have to give 'em all I could on our offense. That would include some stuff on defenses against it, too. It would be available, of course, to a lot of our opponents, and I don't know if that would be fair to Stanford."

Might Cramp His Style

"We plan to go on from where we are now with the offensive style. So I suppose that I could use our 1940 plays and variations in coaching school or in a game of some kind. But even so it might be unfair to our own chances. So I haven't made up my mind definitely about anything yet."

And that goes, too, should an all star coaching bid come his way. He does not deny that he would be hesitant to send a "T" formation against another "T" formation team such as the professional Chicago Bears.

On Shaughnessy's arrival here on route east for a series of sports and Stanford alumni gatherings, the Cinderella coach of 1940 still was glowing over his team's good fortune—and his own, too.

One doesn't easily forget a quick change (one season) from football defeat, as he encountered it at the University of Chicago, to the elation that comes from guiding a team to an unbeaten season and Rose Bowl honors.

Skating Stars to Match Strides in Week End Event

LaCrosse, Wis., Jan. 23—(AP)—The nation's outstanding speed blade artists, including former Olympic stars and men title winners in the last three meets, will match strides in eight divisions at the national outdoor speed skating championships Saturday and Sunday.

Two former champions are in the field that will challenge Leo Freisinger, Chicago sprint star and former Olympian who puts his senior men's crown on the block.

Ken Bartholomew, Minneapolis speed merchant who captured the national title in 1939, and Vic Ronchetti of Chicago, the 1938 titleholder and former North American champion, will be out to regain the crown.

If Freisinger needs more competition than he probably will get it in Del Lamb, veteran Milwaukee speedster and former Olympic team member, and Ted Ellenwood, 21-year-old racer from Amsterdam, N. Y., holder of the middle Atlantic and eastern skating titles.

Considered a Threat
Another Wisconsin skater considered a threat to Freisinger is young Jimmy De Swarte, a Stout Institute student who defeated Lamb on soft ice for the state championship this year.

The race for the women's crown was left wide open by the retirement of Madeline (Maddy) Horn of Beaver Dam, Wis. The four time national titleholder quit competition after her marriage.

Leading aspirants for the title include Louise Herou, Minneapolis; Carmelita Landry, Fitchburg, Mass.; and Helen De Zwart, Wisconsin women's champion from LaCrosse.

President's Power to Rearrange Government Departments Expires

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—President Roosevelt, authoritative sources said today, has decided to delay asking Congress to renew his expired governmental reorganization powers, until the pending lend-lease bill to aid Britain is acted upon.

An act giving the President authority to shift executive department bureaus expired yesterday. Some legislators who had feared that a last minute order might be submitted transferring the forestry service from the agriculture to interior department were obviously relieved. Prospects of such a change have provoked controversy in the past.

Belvidere Woman Dies; Seek Hit-Run Autoist

Belvidere, Ill., Jan. 23—(AP)—Mrs. Clara Sands, 56, wife of a monument dealer, died in Highland hospital today from injuries suffered Tuesday when she was struck by a hit and run driver near her home.

State's Attorney A. J. Strom said the woman had been dragged 200 feet by the car, that the driver stepped from the machine, removed Mrs. Sands from his bumper, climbed back in the machine, turned off the lights and sped away.

Strom said four witnesses had identified the driver who was being sought by state police.

House Passes Bill for Huge Naval Expansion

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—A bill authorizing a $909,000,000 naval expansion program, including construction of 400 sub-chasers and similar small craft, today moved to the Senate for action after receiving House approval, 352 to 2.

The measure would only authorize the expansion; actual appropriations for the work would be sought later.

The ships would cost about $400,000,000. Of the balance, $315,000,000 would be used to expand shipbuilding plants, and $194,000,000 for additional armament and armor manufacturing facilities.

ROME CLAIMS SUCCESSES

Rome, Jan. 23—(AP)—Severe losses were inflicted on Greek forces during local actions in Albania, the Italian high command reported today, while Italian planes bombed Greek troops from the air and shot down an "enemy" plane which attempted to raid an Albanian town.

Employees of Ryan Aeronautical Co. Win Pay Increase

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 23—(AP)—All employees of the Ryan Aeronautical Company were given pay increases today under a contract ratified unanimously by the CIO United Automobile Workers local after a deadlock in negotiations had been broken and a threatened strike averted.

As the pact providing for a top minimum wage of 62½ cents an hour went into effect, Richard T. Frankenstein, chief CIO negotiator, said the UAW planned to organize "wherever there is an aircraft plant on the west coast" and the 15,000 workers at "Consolidated Aircraft Corporation are our immediate objective."

A Consolidated spokesman replied:

"We have no comment. We are busy making airplanes."

Agreement was reached by negotiators yesterday on the Ryan contract. It was disclosed after the union membership met last night to ratify it that the same basic scale had been provided as that won recently by the UAW after a strike at the Vultee Aircraft Company plant at Downey, Calif.

Present employees with less than one month's service will receive 55 cents an hour minimum pay, after 30 days 57½ cents and after four months 62½ cents. Inexperienced new workers may be paid as little as 50 cents an hour the first 60 days with a raise thereafter to 54 cents. The agreement also calls for increases in the upper brackets and provides a bottom level of $1.05 an hour for certain highly skilled classes of labor. Vacation provisions and a conscription clause protecting seniority of employees who may be drafted into military service are included.

Hundreds of German Prisoners in Canada

An East Canadian Port, Jan. 23—(AP)—A top rank German air ace and hundreds of other war prisoners rolled westward toward Canadian internment camps today following the recapture of one of a pair who broke away after their prison ship docked.

The escape of two prisoners was disclosed shortly after the captive fliers and seamen had debarked to waiting special trains last night. One was recaptured early today and patrols searched the dock area for the other.

Police announced the presence among the prisoners of a noted 25-year-old Nazi fighter pilot credited with downing 56 planes, beginning with the Spanish civil war.

(Official identification of prisoners is forbidden under war regulations.)

The Statute of Liberty, in New York harbor, has a nose 4½ feet long.

It has been estimated there are approximately 742,367 different ways in which to serve eggs.
